

HIT WITH SANDBAG AND THEN ROBBED

John Mertz Knocked Senseless And Robbed of $14 While Waiting
For Car at Langdon.

IDENTITY OF ROBBER UNKNOWN

Station Was Dark and Mr. Mertz
Was Unable to Get Definite Description of Assailant.

During the past several days there have been a number of reports of petty thieving and holdups, the latest one being that of John Mertz who was knocked into insensibility and robbed of $14 while he was waiting at Langdon Thursday evening for a northbound I. & L. car. The robber took all the cash he could find, leaving only a few cents in change which Mr. Mertz had placed in his vest pocket and which was overlooked in the hurried search.

The waiting station is some distance from any house, and is not lighted. When Mr. Mertz went into the station he did not see any one, but had not been there long until a stranger walked into the place and soon began a conversation. The man walked up to Mr. Mertz and asked him where he was going and upon being given the reply that he was coming to Seymour, the stranger stated that he was bound for the same place. That is all Mr. Mertz remembers about the man for the next thing he recalled was lying on the floor.

Mr. Mertz believes that he was unconscious for about fifteen minutes, but he regained consciousness in time to stop the incoming car. When he made an examination of his pockets he found that he was minus fourteen dollars and his pocket book, although the robber had overlooked a little loose change which Mr. Mertz had placed in his vest pocket a short time before he came in the waiting station.

As it was very dark in the station Mr. Mertz was unable to see his assailant clearly enough to give a minute description of him, but believes he would probably recognize him if he was to see him again. After he regained consciousness he looked about the station but could not see him, and it is supposed he was hiding some distance away. It is believed by some who were informed of the holdup that it was done by a tramp, while others think that it was local talent. The matter was reported to the police this morning but they have not yet been able to find a clue to the guilty party.

Mr. Mertz has been in this city for some time, and is an agent for optical supplies. He travels throughout the county much of his time and was returning home from a business trip when he was robbed.

Here From Kurdistan.

Rev. Simon Mark and Rev. George Ella of Kurdistan, are spending a few days in Seymour soliciting money for the Chaldean Christian churches and schools in that country. Attesting their reliability they carry credentials from the American and Mexican consuls at New Castle in the Tyne, England, the mayor of that city, the mayors of several Canadian cities and the secretary to the Governor of Indiana. Several local ministers after examining the credentials have also signed the papers carried by the men.

The Christians in Kurdistan and Armenia have several times been the victims of horrible massacres by the Turks and Kurds, the last big massacre occurring three years ago. The Christian schools and churches in Kurdistan are supported almost wholly by foreign contributions. The two missionaries who are in Seymour have been in America about five months.

Miss Flossie Walker became temporarily deranged this morning and wandered from her home. She was found about two and one-half miles in the country and was returned to her home. She is under the delusion that someone is endeavoring to kill her.

E. M. McMillan LOST RIGHT HAND BETWEEN DRAWBARS

Was Employed as Brakeman on the Monon, But Had Formerly Worked on B. & O.

E. M. McMillan, a brakeman on the Monon, lost his right hand in the yards at Bedford Wednesday while he was making a coupling. He was standing between the cars and found that the knuckle of the drawbar was turned so that the cars would not couple when they came together and took hold of it to pull it out. Before he could get his hand out of the way the cars came together catching his hand between the heavy iron drawbars and mashing it almost to a pulp from the ball of the thumb to the ends of the fingers, the bones being crushed. Several of his fingers were broken and were amputated with the palm of his hand.

Before McMillan took his present position on the Monon he was employed on the B. & O. and lived in this city where he was known by many of the railroad employees.

Christmas Turkeys.

We are now buying turkeys for Christmas market. Farmers who sell turkeys now will be sure of high prices. Later in December prices may be lower, as more turkeys are held for the Christmas market than usual. Other poultry is more plentiful this year than ever before, which is a strong factor against extremely high prices for Christmas turkeys.

MORE NEW OFFICES CREATED ON B. & O.

Ed Boyles and G. B. Craig Appointed Assistant Road Foreman of Engines.

ARE EXPERIENCED ENGINEERS

George Childers Receives Appointment of Assistant Trainmaster
On Louisville Branch.

Nearly every day come the reports of promotions and the creation of new offices on the B. & O. S-W, which have been necessary to take care of the immense freight traffic. Probably never in the history of the road have so many new men been employed within so short a time as has been the case during the past three or four months.

The latest reports regarding new offices is the announcement that Ed Boyles and G. B. Craig, both of this city, have been appointed assistant road foremen of engines. The appointments will probably be temporary, but will be continued until the present rush of business is over.

Mr. Boyles is one of the most popular engineers on the road, and is regarded as one of the most careful and experienced engine men in the service of the company. As it is impossible for S. A. Rogers, the road foreman of engines, to look after all of the engines which are now in operation the work will be divided somewhat, and it is thought that better service will be given. Mr. Rogers will still have charge of all the work and the new men will be his assistants. The employment of firemen will still be under his control and supervision. Mr. Boyles will be transferred to the Louisville branch and will have charge of the engines on that division.

To Mr. Craig his position will not be entirely new as he was formerly the road foreman of engines, but retired from that position some time ago. With his experience in this department he will make a valuable man. He will be sent to Mitchell and will have charge of the engines on that part of the division.

Richard Temple, of Seymour, was appointed assistant road foreman of engines some time ago and has charge of that department at the Cincinnati terminal.

A new office has also been created in the trainmaster's department, George Childers, formerly of this city having been appointed as assistant. For some time he has been in charge of a freight train on the Louisville branch. This is the second assistant to be appointed in this office, within the last two months.

Several new firemen were also employed today. They are W. G. Marsh of Louisville, Oliver Oldham of Huron, L. N. Neal, of Irvine, Ky., and C. Berry, of Sparksville. J. J. Waymeier of Kansas city, Mo., was also employed as engineer.

J. F. Greemann Dead.

John Frederick Greemann, one of the pioneer residents of Batesville, died at the home of his son Henry, Thursday afternoon. He was 87 years old. Mr. Greemann was one of the oldest men in Ripley County, and until a few months ago, was in perfect health. He was born in Hanover, Germany, and in 1854 arrived in Cincinnati, O. At the beginning of the civil war he enlisted in Company G, Eighth Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, in which he served until he was wounded in 1862. He came to Batesville from Cincinnati in 1863, engaging in the furniture business.

He is the father of L. F. Greemann and Harve Greemann of this city.

NOVEMBER TEMPERATURE IS LOWER THAN USUAL

Over Dozen Killing Frosts Last Month, While Only Three Were Recorded in November, 1909.

According to the monthly weather report for November, 1910 by J. Robert Blair, official weather observer for Seymour, the mean temperature last month was much lower than is the average temperature for that month. The lowest temperature that has been recorded this winter was registered on the 20th when the thermometer fell to 14 degrees. The maximum temperature for the month was recorded on the 9th with 72 degrees. The minimum in November, 1909 was 22 degrees on the 18th, and the maximum was 80 degrees on the 6th.

Last month the greatest range in temperature in any one day was 40 degrees on the 20th and the least was 3 degrees on the 28th. In the corresponding month last year the greatest range was 42 degrees on the 6th and the least was 10 degrees on the 9th and 21st.

Last month there were thirteen clear days and 6 cloudy days as against 9 clear days and 4 cloudy days in the same month last year.

The total rainfall last month was 1.79 inches and in November 1909 the total rainfall was 1.39 inches. During last month there were over a dozen killing frosts, while during the same month last year there were only three recorded.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

As to Date When Recently Elected
Prosecutor Shall Take Office.

THERE IS NO ILL FEELING

But Parties Interested Want Change
on Right Date.—State Officers' Decision.

There is a difference of opinion in some counties and judicial districts of the state as to when the prosecutors elected in November take office. The different legislation relating to this office enacted during the past few years has caused the confusion and difference of opinion.

In this district Prosecutor Swails of Seymour and the prosecutor-elect, Noble Hays of Scottsburg, have not exactly agreed as to the time the latter should take the reins.

Hays is of the opinion that his time should have begun Nov. 18, while Swails contends that according to law he retires the first of the year. There is no ill feeling in the matter and while Hays desires to take the office when he is entitled to it he states he is not particularly anxious about the matter. Swails is not averse to letting loose but believes there should be no mistake as a change at a wrong time would effect prosecutions made by the office.

If Judge Shea is able to be on the bench next Monday the matter may be referred to him or at least the question will be settled then. The question has been up elsewhere and it is said the auditor of state and attorney general have given their opinion that the prosecutors take office Jan. 1. In the Bartholomew and Decatur circuit the change will be made on that date.

NEW WATER TANK

With Capacity of 50,000 Gallons is Being Erected Here.

A new water tank having a capacity of over 50,000 gallons is being erected here by the B. & O. S-W. at the yards near the round house. There is already one tank here, but this is only about one-fourth as large as the new tank will be, and is too small to furnish sufficient amount of water for the large engines.

The tank which is now being constructed will have a foundation of crushed stone and cement, and will be very substantial. The water supply will be furnished by the city water company.

The new tank was necessary because of the large number of engines which leave the city each day, and which must be given the necessary supplies and fuel before starting on the runs. The work on the new tank will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Roll Call Day.

Something rather out of the ordinary will occur at the First M. E. Church next Sunday. It will be Roll Call Day and the names of all the members will be read at both the morning and night services. If any aged or helpless persons can not be there they can send in word to the Pastor and they will be counted as if present.

This will also be a means by which the record of members can be "straightened up" and a correct roll made.

MRS. LAURA RUDDICK AGAIN ASKS FOR CHANGE OF VENUE.

Alleged in Her Affidavit That She Could Not Get a Fair Trial In Bartholomew County.

Alleging in her affidavit that the people of Columbus and Bartholomew county are prejudiced against her, Mrs. Laura Ruddick has filed another affidavit for a change of venue in the case of Harvey W. Godfrey against her and others to break the will of his late wife. Mrs. Godfrey left a will by which practically all of her estate was given to her sister, Mrs. Ruddick.

When the issues were being made up in the case Mrs. Ruddick filed a motion for a change of venue, alleging she could not get a fair trial in Bartholomew county. Judge Hacker, who has since retired from the bench, granted the change. Before the change was perfected and a place agreed upon for the trial of the cause Mrs. Ruddick reconsidered the matter and withdrew her application for a change. The case was then set for trial in Bartholomew county and the issues were being closed when Mrs. Ruddick again comes forward with an application for a change of venue. She alleges that people in that county are prejudiced against her and that she cannot have a fair trial there.

When the motion for a change of venue was filed C. B. Cooper, of counsel for Mr. Godfrey, interposed an objection. He declared that Mrs. Ruddick had asked for and obtained a change of venue once and had afterward decided to have the case tried here and he thought she had waived her right to any further action of this kind.

Judge Wickens has taken the matter under advisement.

NAVIGATION ON WABASH RIVER

Government Getting Figures As To Its Feasibility.

TERRE HAUTE IS INTERESTED

Manufacturers of That City Are Hastening to Comply With Request of Army Engineer Corps For Information Bearing on the Benefits Commerce Would Receive by Making the Wabash a Navigable Stream.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 2.—Terre Haute manufacturers and others are complying with the request made by Captain Lytle Brown of the army engineer corps to send him all the information possible going to show how much commerce would be benefited by making the Wabash a navigable river when there is a low stage of water. When Captain Brown was here, several days ago, he explained that there should be no effort to start the work before the plan for the improvement of the Ohio had been carried to the mouth of the Wabash. What can be done in the intervening time is to prepare the plans and get ready to convince congress or the waterways bodies of the need of the Wabash improvement. This is the adopted policy among Terre Haute enthusiasts. General W. H. Bixby of the army engineer corps says in his annual report that it is inadvisable at this time to do work on the Wabash, but he does not mean to be understood that he is against the improvement. All the army engineers are in favor of a comprehensive system, and the Wabash is part of the Ohio system.

HIGHER FREIGHT

The Rate on Coal in Indiana Has Been Boosted 7 Cents.

Indianapolis, Dec. 2.—The Indiana railroad commission has granted permission to all railroads in the state which receive coal at the mines and which base their tariffs on rates into Chicago and Hammond, at once to increase the coal rate 7 cents a ton on interstate shipments. The increase of 10 cents which was proposed by the railroads, to become effective yesterday, was thus reduced to 7 cents, effective at once. The permission granted by the commission had the effect of setting aside a rule requiring a stated time for notice of a proposed rate change. The increase affects virtually the entire north half of the state, since rates to points in that territory are controlled by the rates to Hammond and Chicago.

HAD LABEL ON IT

Here is an Egg That Had Been on the Market For Three Years.

Seymour, Ind., Dec. 2.—There is a market in Buffalo for eggs which have been in cold storage over three years. In the summer of 1907 Frank Franklin, an employee in a poultry house, wrote his name and address on an egg which he placed in a case he was preparing for an eastern shipment. Yesterday he received a post card from a woman in Buffalo, N. Y., who stated that she had just purchased some eggs and had found his name on one of them. Franklin will answer the card and tell her how many years ago it has been since the egg was packed. A short time after he labeled the egg he resigned his position and has not since been employed in that capacity.

Shot Indian in Saloon.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 2.—Harry Briehler, who shot and killed Wesley Tall Chief, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter in Mercer court. The shooting occurred in a saloon during the strike of the employees of the Trenton Street Railway company.

Escaped in Scanty Attire.

Waterloo, Ind., Dec. 2.—The Locke hotel, which had been open for business more than a half century, was burned, causing a loss of about $10,000. The house had only one guest and he and the employees escaped in scanty attire.

COUNT DE BEAUFORT

Titled Impecune and His Famous Dog "Bob."

TO SHAKE CHICAGO DUST OFF HIS FEET

De Beaufort Joins Mary Garden
In Knocking Windy City.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—For a vaudeville engagement in New York, beginning next Monday, the Count Jacques Alexander Von Murik De Beaufort, who has been having some fun and a good deal of trouble with his rich and pugnacious father-in-law, H. H. Killgallen of this city, will leave Chicago on Sunday. According to his press agent, the count is not pleased with Chicago, but is sure he will like New York. His views of both places are expressed in the following telegram said to have been sent to his New York press agent:

"A public that cannot appreciate Mary Garden and Salome is downright narrow-minded. I shall be glad to get in a real city, where nobility is appreciated, instead of a jay town like Chicago, where a count is only a curiosity known to the natives solely through the comic papers. New York society, being in touch with titled aristocracy, gives to them their dues and realizes that the nobility are of a higher order of humanity than the low proletariat. Can you not find some way to say these things for me to New Yorkers? I like them and want them to see and like me."

Beaufort's wife, who was Irma Killgallen, promises to sue the count after she leaves the hospital here. Her father, it will be recalled, took exercise by beating up on the count every now and then. De Beaufort, on the stage—in vaudeville—sings and takes his famous dog Bob—his only friend, he says—to help out his act. Mr. Killgallen, who has millions, says he is going to lick the count the next time he sees him.

PAPERS ON THE MARKET

Federal Court Orders Properties of Star Publishing Company Sold.

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—The properties of the Star Publishing company, consisting of the Indianapolis Star, the Muncie Star and the Terre Haute Star, all morning dailies, have been ordered sold by the federal court, the receiver to offer the three papers for sale after sixty days' notice. It is provided that the property shall be sold free of the lien of the mortgage securing the bond issue and free of all other claims, as these are to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale. The purchaser may turn in bonds, the note or the stock in their proper priority as part payment. The master is instructed to accept no bid of less than $1,175,000 and the property is to be sold as an entirety.

Lower Rates Demanded.

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 2.—Attorney General Byers appeared before the railroad commission in behalf of the state of Iowa, asking that the five express companies doing business in the state be ordered to lower their rates. He declared the present rates unjust in view of the large profits of the companies.

Milady's Mirror

A pretty woman is as often a fool as an Adonis is a fop. Beauty and brains are separate things, says a writer in Truth, and they hardly ever go together in women, because brains have a way of molding the features into strength. This is all very well in a man in whom strength is considered beauty, but in a woman it jars with our preconceived notions. In Greece, it seems, brains used to make a mold which was magnificently beautiful; it is not so in these days. We have a few curates with Greek profiles, a few beauties of the classic type, but one seldom hears of their possessing exceptional brains. If Darwin had been a woman letters would have appeared in the papers suggesting that women of science were dreadfully plain, no doubt because, being plain women, they took up science as a last resort. The idea that the size and formation of the brain forbade smooth, high brows and a small mouth would never have occurred to these critics.

Helen of Troy was stupid; one cannot read her history without adoring her for the mixture of beauty and silliness which produced Homer, and, after many centuries, dipped Marlowe's pen in the divine fire. To be "a lovely lady garmented in light from her own beauty," whose "beauty made the bright world dim," is, as a rule, reserved for those who devote themselves to being beautiful.

Mme. Recamier has been cited as an exception, but both her beauty and her brains have been questioned. On the whole, it seems that she was a very pretty and graceful woman, with exceptional charm, who studied the art of listening. Brains have their own beauty, but it is not of the sort to appeal to the man who goes to see a procession of earnest and hard-working women in the spirit of the man who goes to a cattle fair and appraises them quite in the manner of the purchaser.

The gift of great beauty is rare, and, as has been said, it is its own excuse. Prettiness is very common, but it does not usually go with brains, in either sex. But charm is independent of brains, beauty, income or anything else, and when we come down to the matrimonial basis of calculation which prevails among those who write to the newspapers we shall find that charm wins the day.

Gaslight Injures Skin.

Since winter is usually the period for bad hygienic habits, such as staying in the house too much and eating too heavily for comfortable digestion, you must bear in mind that the season is one for especial precaution in the way of good hygienic sense.

Then there is the matter of the hot gaslighted room.

How many girls realize that a long stay under brilliant gaslight is ruinous to the complexion, parching, yellowing and sometimes blotching?

The skin must get a good deal of its fresh oxygen through the lungs, and gaslight burns this up with a rapidity that is terrifying when you come to dabble with the scientific side of the subject.

Warmth is needed for a good skin, but so also is a moist atmosphere, wherefore a long walk on a drizzly day is sometimes greatly beneficial, and indeed it is to the rains and fogs of their climate that Englishwomen owe their beautiful complexions.

Good For the Eyes.

It strengthens the eyes to bathe them either in very hot water or in very cold. Better yet is to take pieces of absorbent cotton, rounded and made into little pads to fit the eyes, dip them in ice water and place them on the lids, changing them as they become hot. After a few minutes of such treatment the eyes will feel comforted and relieved to a great degree. This is specially grateful to the eyes after riding in the wind or after having been subjected to the dust and clinders of a railway or the glare of bright reflections on the water when on a boat. Those who have a tendency to weak eyes should daily use an eye cup in which is placed a boracic acid solution. The saturated solution diluted one-half is generally the best and should be made fresh for each eye. The eye should be opened and shut in the solution half a dozen times or more, so that it will thoroughly bathe the eyeball as well as the lids.

Care of Eyebrows.

The skin beneath the eyebrows needs daily attention. One frequently sees a dry, scaly condition here, similar to dandruff of the scalp—and indeed it is the same thing—and here and there tiny bald patches. Crude petroleum rubbed well into the eyebrows at night will relieve the scalliness and promote the growth of hair. A tiny brush should be on every one's toilet table, and used daily it imparts luster to the brows and keeps them in good condition.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Plenty of Them in Seymour, and Good Reasons for It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, She finds relief and cure? No reason why any Seymour reader Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. William Abbott, 112 E. Second street, Seymour, Ind., says: "I am a firm believer in the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills and I do not know that I would have done were it not for this remedy. My back was very lame and sore and for days at a time, I could hardly get about. The kidney secretions were unnatural and caused me no end of annoyance. Having heard and read so much about Doan's Kidney Pills, I finally decided to give them a trial and procured a supply. The results surprise and delighted me and by the time I had used three boxes of this remedy, every symptom of kidney complaint was removed."

Frightful State of the Language.
A lecturer gave a very learned and interesting address before a woman's club on "The Decadence of Pure English." At the close of the talk a much over-dressed woman came up to him and said:

"I did enjoy your talk ever so much, and I agree with you that the English language is decaying something awful. Hardly no one talks proper nowadays, and the land only knows what the next generation will talk like if nothing ain't done about it."—Youth's Companion.

A Woman's Great Idea

is how to make herself attractive. But without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion, good health. Try them, 50c, at Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

The Waiter and the Tips.

"Tips? Yes, I'm against them," remarked a waiter in a Nassau street luncheon place. "But what am I to live on?" he asked as he gratefully pocketed a nickel. "Do you know what they pay us here? I'll bet you couldn't guess. I get 50 cents a day and two poor meals, and out of that half dollar I have to give 10 cents to this 'bus' boy. It ain't right to make you give me a nickel every day, but if I don't get it from forty or fifty customers my wife and children will go hungry."—New York Tribune.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DECEMBER 4, 1910

PETER'S DENIAL Lesson:—Matt. 26: 31, 67-75

GOLDEN TEXT:—Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.

As we read the first part of our lesson and consider the boastful self confidence of Peter and his assertion "Though all men shall be offended because of Thee, yet will I never be offended," then to the Saviour's "This night, before the cock crow, thou shalt deny Me thrice," his further more emphatic assertion, "Though I should die with Thee, yet will I not deny Thee," how do we pity him and all the disciples, for they all asserted the same. It was as if Peter said: "Lord, Thou dost not know me. Thou canst surely count on me to be true at any cost." Do we see ourselves? Have we ever sung "Surely the Captain May Depend on Me?" If so, were we not as foolishly boastful as Peter? How the Lord must have pitied him! How He pities us! None can be saved until they know that they are lost, for He came to save the lost. The condition of every sinner before God is guilty, with out strength, ungodly, enemies, enmity against God, dead in sins, children of disobedience and wrath, having no hope and without God in the world (Rom. iii. 19; v. 6, 10; vii. 7; Eph. ii. 1-3, 5, 12). Such helpless, hell-deserving sinners Jesus saves fully and forever by His finished work without any help from us whatever. When saved we are just as helpless to live a Christian life and to serve Him as we were to save ourselves. So the great lesson for the saved sinner to learn is the significance of "Not I, but Christ." "Not I, but the grace of God." "Without Me ye can do nothing" (Gal. ii. 20; I Cor. xv. 10; John xv. 5). Unless it is God who worketh in us both to will and to do of His good pleasure the work cannot stand, but will prove to be only wood, hay and stubble. We must be ever watchful, prayerful, submitting to God and resisting the devil, if we would walk worthy of Him who hath called us to His kingdom and glory. We have seen Peter daring to rebuke the Lord as He spoke of suffering, though the Scriptures may be said to be full of predictions concerning the sufferings of the Messiah. We have heard him say: "We have left all for Thee. What shall we have, therefore?" We have also heard him say, "Thou shalt never wash my feet." We have heard his self confident boasting that he was ready to die with Christ. Yet he has seen him taking off a man's ear, for a little while forsaking Christ, then following afar off, then in company with the enemies of Christ and warming himself at their fire. What can we expect next from such a man?

The damsel who kept the door as she saw him sit by the fire warming himself looked earnestly upon him and said, "And thou also wast with Jesus of Nazareth." Compare the four accounts. But he denied, saying, "Woman, I know Him not; neither understand I what thou sayest." Alas, alas, how can we account for it? Did the devil, who led Judas Iscariot to betray Christ, take possession of Peter also? Even so, for on a previous occasion Jesus had said to Peter, "Get thee behind me, Satan" (Matt. xvi. 23). On the Passover night the Lord said, "Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired to have you (R. V.), asked to have you, that he may sift you as wheat, but I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not" (Luke xxii. 31, 32).

After that first denial he went out into the porch, and the cock crew. Then another maid saw him and began to say to them that stood by, "This fellow was also with Jesus of Nazareth." And again he denied with an oath, "I do not know the man." If he had only left the bad company as soon as he found himself falling he might have repented sooner, but it is growing worse—the second denial was accompanied by an oath. About an hour later another confidently affirmed, saying to Peter, "Surely thou art one of them, for thou art a Galilean, and thy speech agreeth thereto." The kinsman of the man whose ear Peter cut off said, "Did not I see thee in the garden with Him?" Then he began to curse and to swear, saying, "I know not this man of whom ye speak." And immediately, while he yet spake, the cock crew the second time, and the Lord turned and looked upon Peter. And Peter called to mind the word that Jesus said unto him, "Before the cock crow twice thou shalt deny me thrice" (Mark xiv. 30-72). And when he thought thereon he went out and wept bitterly. This was not like the remorse of Judas Iscariot which led to suicide, but there were tears of true penitence.

How much do we know of the comfort of the assurance that "He ever liveth to make intercession for us" (Heb. vii. 25). Do we lay it to heart that the same great adversary is ever seeking to cause the saints to fall that he may bring reproach upon that beautiful name by which we are called? He does not ask for the unsaved, because they belong to him. He did not ask for Judas Iscariot, but he had to ask for Job and for Peter. Let us never make light of him, for he is too formidable an enemy. Let us not be afraid of him, for we have a shield to quench his fiery darts and a sword with which to conquer him (Eph. vi; Rev. xii).

A Fashion Chat on Misses Frocks

Furnished by Pictorial Review

222 West 39th Street, New York City

The simple lines which characterize the present styles are especially becoming to the graceful figures of young girls. While retaining all of this simplicity many beautiful frocks are developed in the dainty silk and cotton tissues, colored linen, batiste or linen which may be worked all over in an eyelet design; simpler frocks but charming in their way, are made of the most inexpensive gingham, chambray, dimity and figured lawns. The young girl in her teens is the one who can wear the open-neck waist with impunity, and to her it is universally becoming. The style of the neck may be square, round or cut in a little deeper outline and the plaited or gathered frill is a dainty addition. Then the same frock may have a lace yoke and collar added if desired.

The dresses for misses are delightfully girlish. The designs are simple in line and are made up with just enough decoration, whatever the trimming may be, to suggest a dainty effect without appearing elaborate. Colored and white dress linen are immensely popular for frocks, sailor and coat suits. Then, too, there are several linen finished fabrics such as ramlie, hesper cloth and pongee that are less expensive than linen and are made up in the same way. The daintiest of thin dresses are made of dimity and batiste, dimity being less expensive but charming whether plain white, crossbarred or printed in delicate yellow, green and brown floral effects or in foulard colors with dots. Batiste that is covered with embroidered dots, small figures or has a fancy stripe trims itself sufficiently.

Side plaited ruffles are used to trim dresses of soft materials, and one of the newest ideas in skirts is illustrated in PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3649. This frock is simple and charming in every line and so girlish that none but a girl in her teens would look well in it.

It is made with a lining having one-seam sleeves perforated for shorter length, high or round neck, sleeve-caps combined with outer front and back and attached seven-gored plaited skirt lengthened by a circular flounce with straight side-plaited ruffles. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years. Size 16 requires 6½ yards of 44-inch material.

PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3653 is an attractive garment that conveys a suggestion of youthfulness. The dainty frill around the neck can be made of plaited lace or silk of contrasting color, if so desired.

Trimming is absolutely nothing on this dress in the way of trimmings except this little frill and still it has a dressy appearance. It is the style and cut of the garment and this is what gives distinction to Pictorial Review patterns.

This costume is also made with a lining, either high or low neck, three-quarter length sleeves and has an attached five-gored skirt lengthened by a straight gathered flounce. Sizes are 14, 16 and 18 years and a medium size requires ¾ yards of 40 inch material.

These patterns including cutting and construction guides, are 15 cents each number.

RHEUMATISMWEAK KIDNEYS & THIN BLOOD

Not only is the blood the great nourishing source of our systems, but equally as important is its work of removing the waste of oxidized tissues which have been consumed in force and bodily heat. This waste is filtered out through the kidneys. When, however, the kidneys become weak and unable to perform their regular duties, the waste is allowed to remain in the circulation, soon forming uric acid which destroys the greater portion of nourishing elements of the blood and leave it weak and acid. This imperfect blood deposits into the different muscles and joints the uric impurity with which it is contaminated. Then the pains and aches of Rheumatism commence. The gritty formation which uric acid causes collects in the joints and produces the aches and stiffness which always accompany the disease. Likewise the muscles are coated and lose their elasticity, while the continual irritation to the nerves produces swelling and inflammation of the flesh.

S. S. S. cures Rheumatism in the only way it is possible to overcome the disease; it cleanses the blood of all uric acid poison and strengthens the kidneys so they are enabled to properly filter out the waste. S. S. S. is not only the best of blood purifiers, but a fine tonic. Book on Rheumatism free to all who write. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

SOCIETY BROKE UP THE MEETINGGovernors Were Surfeited With Good Things of Life.*INTERFERED WITH BUSINESS

Southern Hospitality As Exemplified at Louisville Operated So Seriously Against Program of "House of Governors" That Hereafter Executives Will Meet Where They Will Not Be Subjected to Social Temptations.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 2.—The third conference of the House of Governors adjourned after a short executive session held yesterday afternoon, to meet again at Spring Lake, N. J. in the first week of September, where the governors will not be wined and dined to such an extent and will have more opportunity for discussing the affairs of the day which are of interest to each state in the Union. The question of meeting in cities where the hosts vied with other cities in entertaining the visiting executives, was discussed in the executive session, and in the future the governors will stop only at hotels and will pay their own expenses.

While the meeting in Louisville has been one of the most enjoyable since the House of Governors was inaugurated, the social part of the entertainment overshadowed the business sessions and many things which had been scheduled to come before the conference had to be laid on the table.

The second day's session was called to order by Governor Marshall of Indiana. The discussion of employers' liability and workmen's compensation acts, which was begun the afternoon before, was resumed. Governor Hadley of Missouri, Governor Norris of Montana, Governor Marshall of Indiana, Governor Sloan of Arizona, Governor Deneen of Illinois, and Governor Brown of Georgia took part in the discussion, each governor dealing with the subject with especial reference to what has been done in his state. Attention was called to the cost of damage suits and the suggestion was made by some of the governors that laws be passed providing for the payment out of the public treasury of a certain sum to a workman injured or to the family of a workman killed.

Governor Hadley introduced a resolution, which was adopted, providing that each governor should make a report to the governors of the other states with regard to the liability and compensation laws of his own state. All the governors agreed that the present laws on the subject are unsatisfactory. The subject of direct primaries was also taken up by the conference. The principal address was made by Governor Fort of New Jersey, who made a strong plea for direct primaries, which he said are here to stay. He mentioned the objections that have been raised against the system, that it destroys the convention system, leaving no authority to define party policy, that it is more expensive to candidates, and that it tends to destroy party spirit, and combated these objections.

Governor Fort was followed by Governor Hadley of Missouri, who said that in dealing with the proposition one must recognize the necessity of correcting the abuses which are incident to the system.

EMMA GOLDMAN

Traveling Anarch Not Permitted to Lecture in Indiana's Capital.

KEPT HER OUT

Emma Goldman Lecture Barred by Police in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Dec. 2.—Emma Goldman, anarchist, will not be permitted to speak in Indianapolis, according to Superintendent of Police Hyland, who has denied a request that she be permitted to deliver a lecture in the city. Her representative called on Mayor Shank, who notified him through the mayor's secretary that the mayor did not care to talk with any representative of Emma Goldman; that the matter of her speaking here was wholly in the hands of the police.

THE BETTING ODDS FAVOR UNIONISTSComplete Reversal in British Political Situation.

London, Dec. 2.—The complete change which has taken place in the political situation since the failure of the conference in the house of lords less than a month ago is demonstrated in the reversal in the betting odds. The figures are now even money that the government's coalition majority will be reduced from 124 to below 50. This means that the Unionists must gain thirty-two seats. Some enthusiastic members of that party are sanguine enough to expect an actual majority above the Liberals, Irish Nationalists, Laborites and Socialists. The revolution of feeling throughout the country is so strong that a Unionist landslide would be by no means impossible if the election could be delayed a month, but with the first pollings only two days away, such a result is hardly probable.

Choked to Death on Meat.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 2.—A piece of beefsteak the size of a silver dollar caused the death of John Olson, a bricklayer. Olson purchased a drink at a bar, then went to the free luncheon stand and took a piece of steak. A moment later he fell to the floor dead. A post-mortem examination revealed the fact that the meat had lodged in his throat and that he had been suffocated.

He was arraigned and held in $2,000 bail, which was furnished.

RUBBER TRUST INVESTIGATIONGovernment Inquisitors After Colossal Combination.*TAKE UP THE TRAIL AT CHICAGO

Special Agent Darling of Department of Justice Admits This Is the Object of His Visit to Chicago, but Refuses to Enter Into Details—Local Agents of So-Called Trust Say They Have No Knowledge of Combine.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Governmental inquiry into the existence of a colossal rubber trust, representative of millions of dollars and controlling the great rubber tire business of this country, which has been carried on secretly in the east, is under way in Chicago. Joseph Darling, special agent of the United States department of justice, who came to Chicago Tuesday, admitted the truth of the statement, but refused to give specific facts. The investigation, it is said, was started by the government on the complaint of hundreds of "non-trust" automobile firms selling rubber tires, who complained that they had been "blacklisted" by the combine and their business ruined. Chicago representatives of the rubber firms under investigation declared that they had no knowledge of any so-called rubber trust, that they had not heard that the government was investigating the rubber business.

VERY HAPPY

Was the President on Occasion of His Daughter's "Coming Out."

Washington, Dec. 2.—Mrs. Taft presented her only daughter, Helen, to Washington society at a White House reception yesterday afternoon. Miss Taft is the fourth White House debutante. Miss Nellie Grant was the first; Miss Alice Roosevelt the second, and Miss Ethel Roosevelt the third. Miss Taft is nineteen years old. She has appeared in Washington society among the younger set for two or three seasons, but Mrs. Taft followed the usual custom of having a formal debut.

The president stood with Mrs. Taft and their daughter to welcome the guests in the green room. The president had a pleasant word for everybody and appeared to be very happy. Miss Taft wore a gown of dull pink chiffon made in a draped princess style, which was handsomely embroidered in beads of the same shade. Nearly 1,500 guests, including practically all of official Washington, passed through the receiving room and shook hands with the debutante, Mr. Taft and Mrs. Taft.

After the guests had passed through the receiving room and the blue, Mrs. Taft proceeded to the state dining room, where she stood, surrounded by friends, while light refreshments were served. Miss Taft remained in the blue room chatting with a large party of girl friends and young men, while the president circulated generally among the guests.

A HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Indiana Legislature Will Be Asked to Create Such a Body.

Indianapolis, Dec. 2.—One of the results of the American good roads congress in Indianapolis next week will be a request to the next general assembly of Indiana for definite good roads legislation. The final day, Friday, to be known as Indiana day, will be devoted exclusively to a consideration of local problems, and it is expected that a committee will be appointed at that session, with instructions to prepare a proposed law.

No definite steps toward the writing of such a bill will be taken in advance of the state meeting, for an effort is being made by the Indiana Good Roads association to have each county of the state represented on Indiana day. The general sentiment seems to favor the enactment of a law creating a state highway commission and providing for the extension of state aid in the construction of public roads.

Glass Practically Freed.

San Francisco, Dec. 2.—The reversal by the state supreme court of the conviction of bribery of Louis Glass, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Telephone company, practically ends another of the graft cases which caused so much notoriety. Glass was sentenced to five years in prison. Although the supreme court remands the case for a new trial, it is very doubtful whether he will ever be brought to trial again.

Reduction in Pullman Rates.

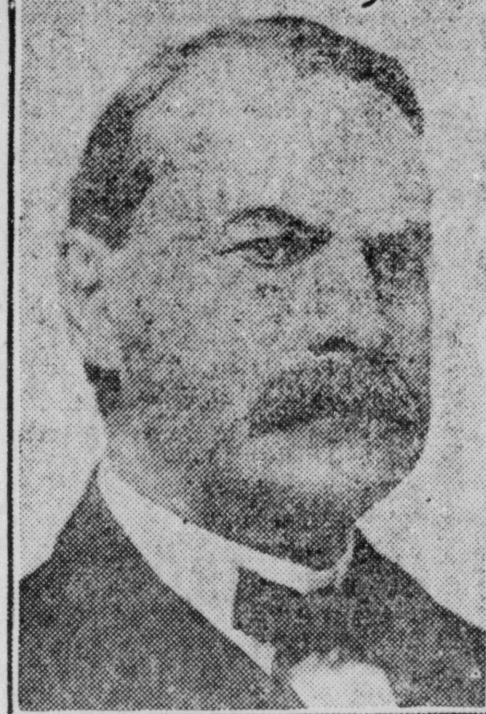

Chicago, Dec. 2.—A country-wide reduction of upper Pullman berth rates of 20 per cent, where the lower berth rate exceeds $1.50, and various reductions in lower berths, have been announced before the interstate commerce commission by the Pullman company.

Run Down by Freight Engine.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 2.—While riding on a speeder in the Panhandle yards, Harrison Reed, aged sixty-one years, a switch tender, was run down by a freight engine and instantly killed.

QUINCY A. MYERS

Judge of Indiana Supreme Court Painfully Injured.

CUT FINGER OFF

Indiana Supreme Court Judge Victim of Distressing Accident.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 2.—While superintending repairs in his office building in Fourth street, Quincy A. Myers, supreme court judge, was struck and felled to the floor by a large section of falling plaster. The index finger of his right hand was taken off at the first joint. The fact that he wore a stiff hat saved him from perhaps fatal injuries.

When the accident happened he was standing with his hand resting on a desk. The falling plaster cut off his finger as cleanly as though done by a knife.

WHOLE TROOP OF SOLDIERS MISSINGNot Heard From Since the Battle of Pedernates.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 2.—In the battle at Pedernates, fought on Tuesday fifty miles from Chihuahua, a force of Mexican troops were either killed or taken prisoners. It is stated that 167 soldiers were sent out and that none of them returned nor have they been heard of since. There is ample confirmation of the statement that the rebels have complete control of every town between Chihuahua and Madera on the Chihuahua and Pacific road, but they are not molesting Americans and they are allowing all trains to operate again. At La Junta, a junction point on the line, the insurgents have twenty Mexican soldiers prisoners.

As soon as additional soldiers arrive from the interior they will be sent against the insurgents, but the latter are entrenched in the mountains. They are respecting Madero's orders in every particular and are taking nothing they cannot pay for and molesting no Americans or other foreigners.

It is reported in Chihuahua that the need for troops in Yucatan is preventing the Mexican government from sending the necessary number to Chihuahua to put down the trouble.

Rangers Still on Duty.

Austin, Tex., Dec. 2.—Governor Campbell has ordered the state ranger force to remain on the Rio Grande border and continue their search for Francisco I. Madero and bands of Mexican revolutionists. The military and government authorities of Mexico believe that Madero is somewhere in hiding on the Texas side of the river, as search for him has been made all over northern Mexico and no trace of his whereabouts has been found.

Texas Invasion Ends.

Marathon, Tex., Dec. 2.—The band of thirty armed Mexican revolutionists who were in the vicinity of Terlingua, Tex., ninety miles south of here, have crossed into Mexico.

CABINET APPROVED

The President's Message Now Ready For Congress.

Washington, Dec. 2.—President Taft's annual message to congress, his second, was finished yesterday afternoon. A special cabinet meeting was called to consider the final draft of the document, and it was then hustled to the public printing office. The message was given out to the press associations late last night and will be hurried to the newspapers of the country to be released for publication on delivery to congress next Tuesday.

The message is longer than that of last year. It probably will run close to 20,000 words.

This Lover Went Wild.

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Leo Gerowski, aged 23, madly infatuated with Helen Furman, tried to kill the girl as she lay dangerously ill of pleurisy in her mother's home. He entered the room and tried to kiss her, and she pushed his face away. He pulled a pistol and fired four shots, all of which went wild, save one which grazed the girl's temple. The last shot in the gun he sent into his own temple and he will die.

Backache Means Dying Kidneys

A Remarkable Treatment That Saves the Kidneys. How You May Cure Yourself Quickly and Thoroughly.

With the progress of science comes one remarkable treatment for kidney diseases. It has been so thoroughly tested and its results have proven so revolutionary that a well-known firm in Michigan has undertaken its distribution into every part of the country. Those who suffer from kidney trouble and the diseases resulting from it will be pleased to know that every package of this treatment is thoroughly guaranteed. This should assure at least a positive cure to every sufferer.

Every man and woman should know that backache is usually a well-defined symptom of advancing kidney disease which may end fatally unless treated in time; that rheumatism and bladder trouble are caused from nothing more nor less than kidneys that do not filter the poison from the blood; that dropsy, Bright's disease, diabetes and bladder stones are caused by bad kidneys.

Once they are made to work properly, these diseases should quickly disappear.

This is done by the new treatment, Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills.

We urge everyone who has pain in the small of the back, profuse or scanty urination, pains in the bladder, cloudy or foul urine, not to fail to get a package today of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and drop all other kidney treatments. Senator Stevenson, of Washington, writes from Olympia: "There is no question about the efficacy of Dr. Derby's Pure Kidney Pills in curing kidney and bladder trouble. I know whereof I speak."

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are now sold at all drug stores—50¢ per box—30 days' treatment—25¢ cents, or direct from Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich. If you would like to try them first, ask your druggist for a free sample package. Then buy a package; you will not regret it.

PRESIDENT DIAZ

His Inauguration Today Was Conducted Quietly.

NEUTRALIZE CANAL IS THE KIEFER PLAN

Apostle of Peace Wants Non-Interference of Your Forts.

Washington, Dec. 1.—According to statements made here, Representative Tawney and other opponents of the administration plan to fortify the Panama canal will rally to the support of the Kiefer resolution, which proposes that the canal strip shall be neutralized. This resolution is pending before the committee on foreign affairs, and it will be given early consideration with the probability that it will be reported favorably. It is estimated that it will require at least $14,000,000 to fortify the canal. Unless he changes his mind on the subject the president will recommend in his forthcoming message that the waterway be equipped so that the government may protect it in times of trouble. Many members agree with Representative Tawney, who is chairman of the committee on appropriations, that the neutralization of the canal strip would fully protect the interests of the United States and at the same time save a lot of money.

The Kiefer resolution provides that the nations of the world shall join with this government in treaties declaring the canal zone to be neutral territory. It contemplates, of course, that the commercial administration of the canal remain in the hands of this government.

If the president persists in his determination to recommend the fortification of the canal, an interesting situation will be presented. Most Republican leaders intend to pursue a policy of rigid economy this winter, and they look askance on the proposal to expend millions to fortify the canal. At the same time they realize the large sentimental interest in the waterway and are fearful that public sentiment will force them to uphold the hand of the administration in this particular case.

USES OF RED CROSS FUNDS

How Proceeds of Christmas Seals Money is Expended.

The people of Indiana last year purchased about 780,000 Red Cross Christmas Seals at one cent each, amounting to $7,800 or almost twice as much as the total sales for the year before. This money went into the hands of an Indiana Committee composed of Noble C. Butler, clerk of the U. S. Court, Roland Evans, reporter of the U. S. Court, and James Lilly, a merchant, all of Indianapolis. During the past year they have been expending the funds. They have erected fresh air cottages at Evansville, South Bend, Frankfort, Vincennes, and at Indianapolis, where victims of tuberculosis may obtain fresh air treatment regarded as the most effective method of combating the disease. In addition to these cottages, the Indiana Committee has paid the expenses of a generous number of individuals who have had incipient cases of the White Plague, who were all sent to first class sanitariums which make a specialty of treating tubercular patients.

The Indiana Committee is very anxious to spread its activities more thoroughly over the state. It hopes to establish colonies of cottages in practically every city, but in order to do so two things are necessary. The people of the state must help the cause by the purchase of Red Cross Christmas Seals. The Indiana committee will use the money for building the cottages complete and setting them up. It is necessary that in each city where one of those colonies is located for some tubercular society or other organization to see that the cottages are kept in operation, that the patients are made comfortable, and where the patients have no money the local organization is also to see that he is provided with food and other necessities.

The Indiana Committee is also anxious to learn of worthy individual cases, when it will promptly undertake to provide ways and means for giving treatment.

Although the Christmas Seals have been on sale in Indiana only three holiday seasons, the little Christmas stickers have developed into a mighty medium for fighting the White Plague and a number of permanent cures have been made. Every Christmas Seal at one cent each adds a penny to the Indiana fund. It is hoped this year to get the total amount up to double what it was last Christmas season.

The sale of the Christmas Seals in Seymour is in charge of the Tuesday Club and may be purchased at one cent each at the following Drug stores: Andrews-Schwenk Co., C. W. Milhous, Alpha Cox, A. J. Pellens and Geo. A. Meyer.

NO SELECTION

Of Deputies Yet Made by Prosecutor-Elect Hays.

Noble Hays of Scottsburg, prosecutor-elect, was here today on business. He stated that he has not yet made any selection of deputies for this county but expects later to name men for Seymour and Brownstown. There has been no particular scramble for the positions. The prosecutor personally attends to most of the regular court business, the larger part of the business left to the deputies being in the justice of the peace courts.

There is a possibility that Mr. Hays may later come to Seymour to live but has not yet made any arrangements for removal.

A Question of Science.

"I remember when I was a student," said a clergyman, "a farmer came to the seminary to visit his nephew, whom he was educating. The farmer had no urban polish. His tea when it was brought was very hot, and he poured it in his saucer, to his nephew's great mortification. Finally, unable to restrain himself, the nephew was so rude as to say:

"Uncle, why do you pour your tea in the saucer?"

"The old farmer looked up in surprise. Then he said in a loud, hearty voice:

"To cool it, to be sure. The more air surface you give it the quicker it cools. These here modern seminaries don't teach much science, do they?"

The Fatal Five Minutes.

Doctors have made a startling discovery affecting married men. They have found out there is a dangerous five minutes in every day for a married man. It is the five minutes in the late afternoon or early evening when he reaches home after his hours of hard work. Then his bodily and mental strength is at its lowest ebb. It is these five minutes that cause most of the divorces and the mental unhappiness that wrecks so many homes. Beware of that fatal five minutes, ladies, and resolve never, never to say anything or do anything in that dangerous period which you might afterward sincerely regret.—London Tit-Bits.

Baffled.

The word baffled now has a meaning entirely different from that applied to it 300 years ago. It is now understood to mean thwarted, foiled or disappointed, but then it was applied to the process of degradation by which a knight was disgraced. A baffled knight was one who had been pronounced guilty of conduct unbecoming one of his order and had accordingly been shorn of his plumes, his sword was broken before his eyes, his knightly robe torn away, his spurs cut off with a cleaver, and after being publicly chastised he was declared to be baffled. The word is used in this sense by Shakespeare and other writers of that time.

Our Motto This Year is—"The Best Yet."

BERGER'S VICTORY INDICATES GROWTH OF SOCIALIST PARTY

Not Necessarily Election of Third Party President in 1912, but Triumph at Polls Means New Political Factor.

New Congressman From Milwaukee Radical In Theory, but Mild and Temperate In Giving Doses of New Doctrine.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

IN the late election the Socialist party polled approximately 700,000 votes, thus continuing as the third party in the nation and taking like rank in most of the states. In New York, Wisconsin, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Indiana and Kansas, for example, its gains were marked. It carried the city of Milwaukee and the county in which it is situated, electing thirteen members of the state assembly and one senator. More important than all, it made Victor L. Berger a representative in congress.

Now, Berger is not only a Socialist, but a political general of no mean parts. One would not expect the two things to go together, and in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases they would not. But the one-thousandth case is Berger's and is an exception.

Some of the simon pure Socialists accuse Berger of being an opportunist. They say that, having elected the mayor and council of the city of Milwaukee last spring, Berger, who engineered the job, should have seen to it that the whole Socialist program was put into immediate effect. Instead of that his mayor and council have gone along doing about what any reform administration would have done and have never waved the red flag nor put all the means of production and distribution into the common pot.

No Excitement as Yet.

About the only thing startling Mayor Seidel has put over was to say some things about Colonel T. Roosevelt, and they were mild and ladylike compared to the epithets hurled at the colonel by eminent financiers and other perfectly respectable people in New York.

In answer to his critics Berger could say that had he followed the course of demanding the whole Socialist program at once there would not now be enough Socialists in Milwaukee to elect the whole county ticket—thirteen members of the assembly, one senator and one member of congress. He has said this in effect and has added that if he had lived in New York instead of Milwaukee the metropolis would now be in the hands of his party.

Berger has never run for president and never will, for the reason that he was born in Austria. But, then, there have been a few good men who never ran for president; also other good men who ran, but did not arrive. There were Clay, Webster, Blaine and Bryan, to say nothing of Debs. Mr. Debs has been running for president on the Socialist ticket long enough—well, long enough to get him used to it. He did not expect to be elected; said so himself. He also said, as I recall it, that if he had expected to be elected he would not have run, which shows that the sour grapes fable may apply to candidates as well as to foxes.

Berger Long In Game.

When Debs ran for president there was Berger behind him. Couldn't lose Berger. He was a necessary man. For one thing, he had that indispensable quality known as brains. Men with real gray matter, of the sort that stays on the job when needed, are not so numerous as to glut the market.

Berger has been with Debs ever since the days of the People's party. In the Populist national convention of 1896 Debs was a candidate for the presidential nomination, and Berger was the man in charge of his boom. It would not go, however, and Bryan was named. During that campaign Debs supported Bryan, and presumably Berger did likewise. After it was over the two men, together with some of Debs' Railway union following, launched the Social Democratic Party of America. There had been a Socialist Labor party prior to that time, and, for the matter of that, there is one yet. But it never reached 40,000 votes in the entire country and in 1908 had fallen to less than 14,000.

After a few years the name of the Social Democratic party was changed to plain Socialist. At the start it was rather uphill work for the new organization. In 1900 Debs, as a candidate for president, received only $7,814 votes, but in 1904 he jumped it up to 402,283. During the next four years the vote remained almost stationary, since in 1908 Debs received 420,793.

Socialist Increase Large.

The following table will give some indication of the increase since 1908. The figures for 1910 are only approximate:

	1910.	1908.
California	60,000	28,144
Connecticut	12,000	5,123
Indiana	20,000	13,476
Kentucky	4,500	4,057
Michigan	10,000	11,586
Minnesota	15,000	10,090
Nevada	2,000	1,900
New York	68,000	32,994
Ohio	50,000	32,759
Oklahoma	30,000	21,089
Pennsylvania	60,000	32,913
South Dakota	2,500	2,846
Tennessee	2,000	1,878
Utah	7,000	4,227
Washington	4,000	4,704
Wisconsin	60,000	23,144

Now the Socialist brethren are talking about carrying the country in 1912.

the most conservative of them delaying the advent of the millennium till 1916. They are all certain it will not take longer than that. Since Comrade Berger is in congress and some of the other comrades are in various state legislatures the advent of the golden age is at our very doors. Bellamy's "Looking Backward" is to take form and dwell among us. There shall be no more poverty, and the trusts and high prices shall trouble us no more.

Reason For Joy.

Well, one can hardly blame the comrades for their joy. They have been working for long years now, and this glimmer of hope must be as balm in Gilead. When year after year the small vote would come in they would bravely pat each other on the backs and say, "We do not want to grow too fast; we are trying to make Socialists, not victories; we prefer it this way since it assures us that every one is a thorough convert before he joins us," etc. It was a cheerful way to look at it, almost pathetically cheerful, since it was quite apparent that they were not growing too fast. No danger in that direction, at any rate. But this is all changed now. The tide is their way, their ships are coming in, and the millennial dawn is fairly blushing in the east.

Well, here is hoping that they do not awaken too soon. It is a pleasant

The pioneer grubs out a little clearing in the forest and there dies and is buried. Years afterward a city springs up where his cabin stood. The millions in the city may not remember even the pioneer's name. Yet he played his part in the drama of progress. All honor to the political pioneers in whatever camp they are found. Whatever of truth they utter will live after them and will ultimately triumph, though not in their way nor yet in their day.

In some aspects the Socialist party is different, however, from any of those that have gone before. For one thing, it has an existence in many lands. It is the balance of power in Germany, is very influential in France and has a strong footing in Great Britain and generally throughout Europe. For another thing, it is compactly organized and its devotees are zealous, as ready to go to jail as to congress. For a third thing, it will not enter into combination with other parties, as already noted. For a fourth, its elected representatives are not liable to betray and discredit it, since each one leaves a written resignation in the hands of his local organization, to be sprung at any time that he goes counter to the party's will. All these things make for permanence and "solidarity," a word almost as much in vogue among the comrades as "class consciousness."

Resume of Socialist Ideas.

It is impossible to put the Socialist demands into brief compass and do them justice. In a word, they call for the collective ownership of the means of production and distribution. Government ownership and municipal ownership are not genuine Socialist doctrines, yet are advocated by some members of the party as stepping stones to something beyond. Capital is regarded as the surplus product of labor and, since it becomes in turn a tool of further production, should not be left in private hands. Since labor produces all wealth the workers—and by this is meant all wage earners—should stand together for their own class. In other words, they should be class conscious.

In the end the Socialists aim at the co-operative commonwealth, where dream, and they have earned the right to it. Yet they may find that it is rather a far cry from squeezing in one congressman from Milwaukee to electing a president of the United States. There have been many third parties in the land, from the days of the old Knownothings and Free Soilers down to the Greenbackers, Prohibitionists and Populists. And they all sang that same glad song. Only a little longer, brethren, for the light is breaking and the truth will prevail! Well, in the end the truth did prevail after a fashion, but not through their parties. The Greenbackers elected many congressmen and governors of states, yet they went the way of the earth. The Populists in little more than two years jumped up to a strength of nearly 2,000,000 votes, had twenty-five or thirty congressmen, six or eight senators and more than that number of governors. Yet they likewise took the long trail. Exactly so, retort the Socialists, but the Greenbackers and Populists fused themselves to death, and we have resolved never to fuse. Well, that may be a saving grace, and it may not. The Prohibitionists never fused.

Third Parties Do Good.

All these new parties make for good in the end. They sow the seed, and these germinate and grow, but others reap the harvest. The spirit of Populism was carried forward by Bryan and Roosevelt, and now the progressives are bearing it along. So even if the People's party died its labor was not wholly in vain. The Prohibitionists never elected a president or any other official to speak of, yet county after county and state after state are adopting some form of prohibition.

practically all industrial agencies and utilities will be socially owned. They are not strong on patriotism, but believe in international brotherhood of all toilers; hence are opposed to war. Taken all in all, they form a new and important factor in the world, not only by reason of their numbers, but because of their ideals, and, judging by the recent election, they will have to be reckoned with hereafter in American politics.

Mr. Berger does not purpose to give the nation the whole Socialist dose at once, however. He will do as he has done in Milwaukee, where the homeopathic pellet and the soft pedal have been in vogue. He will be a parlor Socialist and perfectly ladylike in his methods. In theory Berger goes as far as Karl Marx, but in practice—well, that is different. Before gaining the co-operative commonwealth it is necessary to gain power, you see.

Mr. Berger was born in 1860 and was educated in the Universities of Budapest and Vienna. Before he graduated his father failed in business and migrated to America. The boy worked at trades, then taught school and finally became a newspaper man, editing the Daily Vorwaerts, the Wahrheit and the Social Democratic Herald of Milwaukee. He has been a member of the national executive board of his party since its organization; also a delegate to the international congresses. He has also been a candidate for congress and other offices and was an alderman at large in Milwaukee when elected this year.

In Milwaukee everybody calls him Victor, and, considering what happened to him, he seems entitled to the name.

Woman's World

Designing Costumes Is a Hobby of Popular Actress.

MISS GRACE LA RUE IN WRAP DESIGNED BY HERSELF.

Individuality in dress is manifesting itself more and more every day, and women are no longer satisfied with the clothes made for them by even the most celebrated dressmakers unless the modiste studies their own requirements.

Miss Grace La Rue, who is singing the principal role in "Mme. Troubadour," designs all of her own costumes and those of the girl with the road company who assumes the character she originated.

Miss La Rue has hit on a scheme in her dressmaking which is a valuable suggestion to the home seamstress. She has a life size wax figure of herself modeled, and on this model she is able to study the effects of her costumes better than by any arrangement of mirrors.

Fashion Ever Young.

"If fashion is capricious it is because she is always young," said a witty Parisienne. By being la mode one is always young. It is the touches of the toilet, the finishing touches, that bring a costume up to its best. Youth is not a question of years, but one of appearance. The newest styles of dress are cut in lines and with a grace which knows no difference between youth and age.

To be young in fashion a dame, no matter her years, will look most carefully to four things—her corset, her shoes, her gloves and her hat.

Between these points of interest lie the jabot and the belt. A dainty jabot or a frill for the front of a coat or shirt waist will give it unexampled freshness and style. The counters are full of the very latest. It is difficult to escape them, and as the passe styles go to the out of the way counters the newest is there to be bought without much thinking.

A trim collar and modish jabot cover a multitude of oversights in the costume. The trim collar is sure to attract the eyes. The jabot of dainty mull and lace and the crimped frill of lawn, with an Irish edging or an insertion of guipure, mark an elegant thought. The Dutch neck is reserved for the home toilets.

Quotes Nietzsche on Women.

Mrs. Havelock Ellis, who has made a careful study of Nietzsche, says the philosopher is strangely reticent about women, though he evidently has worked out a philosophy concerning them. She quotes him as saying, "Everything in woman is a riddle." She points out that he has said in one essay: "The true man wants two different things, danger and diversion. He therefore wants a woman as the most dangerous plaything." The philosopher, elaborating on this point, says in every man there is always the element of the child and that woman is his plaything. The writer then quotes this excerpt from Nietzsche: "In a woman's love there are unfairness and blindness to all she does not love. And even in a woman's enlightened love there are still outbreaks and lightning, and night along with the light." Mrs. Ellis has picked up in another essay of the philosopher another excerpt which fits in here. In it the philosopher says: "Woman would like to believe love can do all. It is a superstition peculiar to herself. Alas, he who knows the heart finds out how poor, helpless, pretentious and liable to error even the best, deepest love is, how it rather destroys than preserves."

A Fashion Chat on Young Girls Frocks.

Furnished by Pictorial Review

222 West 39th Street, New York City

Styles for young girls are a replica of those for grown-ups, but some of the prevailing fashions seem to be special favorites of the girls. One of these is the dress that is all in one piece; another is the skirt that has a deep yoke or gored upper part and the lower part gathered or plaited. Of course, only very soft material is gathered.

The most attractive garments that girls wear are the ones that suit the occasion and the wearer with a suggestion of youthfulness in them. The designs on this page are simple in line and are made up with just enough decoration to give a stylish appearance. At this season the young girl's outfit is a problem for the mother to solve unaided, but by consulting the Pictorial Review Fashions, many charming girlish frocks suggest exactly what is needed, from the smart new double-breasted jacket and skirt and the slender simple lines of the school dress to the pretty dance frock.

PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3657 is a charming afternoon frock and its style is the very latest. The combination of two different materials tends to give it a decided distinction as well as grace, and simplicity marks the whole costume. Dark blue challis with a small white dot would be a suitable material for this dress and dark blue messaline could be used for the upper part of the waist and for the band at the bottom of the skirt. Persian banding having a dark blue background with a dull red tone in it would make a very effective trimming. This costume is made with a lining and the outer sleeves with white or black braid. Dark blue serge is the favorite material for such a costume trimmed with a becoming tone of red. Its sizes are 14, 16 and 18 years. Size 16 requires 6 yards of 48-inch material and 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch contrasting material.

This dress would look still prettier if made of dark blue voile over a silk lining with the upper part of the body and the band, of messaline or taffeta.

The sailor blouse is distinctly girlish and is so comfortable for exercise that its popularity is not surprising. Sailor dresses may have plain gored skirts or plaited ones, both are stylish.

The middie blouse shown in PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3653 consists of a blouse slipped on over the head, having shield, sailor collar and one-seam sleeves and a seven-gored side-plaited skirt. This dress can be made of either linen or serge. If made of linen the collar and cuffs could be of different colored linen and the edge of the pocket lined with same. If made of serge, either a linen collar can be worn or one made of a different colored serge trimmed with white or black braid. Dark blue serge is the favorite material for such a costume trimmed with a becoming tone of red. Its sizes are 14, 16 and 18 years. Size 16 requires 6 yards of 48-inch material.

One piece dresses buttoned or hooked on the side are popular for school wear. The skirts cut in circular style are much favored while plaited skirts are also in vogue. Circular skirts look much better than the plaited ones, with tailored suits that have short coats. By the way, the short coat will be the height of fashion in that line this coming season and they are very chic and decidedly French in appearance. The black and white tailor-made with a brilliant touch of red is stunning for young girls and there are many pretty styles that will set off this combination to the best advantage.

The price of the patterns illustrated is 15 cents each number.

ZULU SAYS HE IS LADYSMITH HERO

Asks $200 and Cattle For Planning Boer Rout.

BULLER GIVEN LITTLE CREDIT

Chief Malinga After a Dozen Years of Silence Demands Reward He Claims
"Ferryman of the Tugela" Promised
Him—Has Been in Jail or Would Have Spoken Sooner.

It was only on the sixth attempt, as every one knows, that the late General Sir Redvers Buller succeeded in relieving Ladysmith during the last Boer war. But, if a story which has just come to hand after these twelve years be substantiated, Ladysmith might have fallen eventually into the hands of the Boers had it not been for the strategy of a Zulu chief who at the last moment came to the relief of the harassed British general.

The story, which comes from Durban, is to the effect that the Zulu chief Malinga is claiming through the court a reward of $200 and eighty head of cattle for the services rendered on the occasion referred to.

Claims Credit For Victory.

Malinga declares that it was through him that the final attack on the Boers at Tugela heights proved successful, he having originated the plan of operations after five previous efforts had been made without success.

The Natal Mercury, which chronicles the details of Malinga's claim, offers no opinion on its merits, but states that many of the points of the chief's story coincide with what actually occurred.

Briefly, Malinga says that during the siege of Ladysmith he was practicing in the district as a medicine man. He had commanded an impi of warriors during the Zulu war, and when the natives were called together by General Buller he was asked if he could still handle an impi.

Buller Crosses Ocean.

To this Malinga replied that what he had done before he could do again, and he was thereupon invited to assist General Buller's forces, being promised the reward he now claimed if he was successful. The Boers at that time occupied a position on the Makala hill, and the adoption of Malinga's plan of attack ended in their complete rout.

After the relief of Ladysmith Malinga returned to Nkandhla, to learn that General Buller had "crossed the seas." Having been later thrown into prison for his part in a native rebellion, he had been unable to make his claim for the promised reward until now.

GUMDROPS OUT OF DATE.

Eskimos Prefer Everlasting Chewing Gum, Skipper Reports.

Dr. Cook, whose claim to having discovered the north pole ruffled the temper of Lieutenant Peary, said he took a barrel of gumdrops with him to the arctic because the Eskimos would do anything for three or four of the confections. There is now evidence that chewing gum has gumdrops beaten to a frazzle.

Such is the opinion of Captain John Backlund of the trading schooner Volante, which arrived at Seattle from a trip to the extreme north of the continent with $300,000 worth of arctic furs.

Captain Backlund took north 300 tons of general merchandise to trade with the natives, including everything from sewing machines to delicatessen. The sticks of chewing gum were the most valuable asset of all for filling the hold with ermine, sable, fox and bear skins.

"What appealed to the Eskimos," explained the captain, "was that, while a gumbdrop was consumed in a few moments, a wad of chewing gum lasts practically forever and can be used turn and turn about by the whole family." The gum brought more than its weight in gold.

BERNHARDT IS HOSPITABLE.

Entertains Dinner Guests She Never Saw Before.

An Italian Journal in commenting on Mme. Sarah Bernhardt's recent appearance in America explains how it is that this great artist seems always in need of money. It is interesting to read that in the case of this distinguished artist her money is literally at the disposal not only of her near and distant relations and friends, but even of people she does not know, for her house is open to all.

At one time she never entertained less than twenty persons daily at dinner, and it is related that Alexandre Dumas, who was one day of the number, sitting at the right hand of Mme. Bernhardt, asked her, "Will you kindly tell me the name of your friend on the left?" "That is more than I can do," said she, "for I have never seen him before."

Charming Holiday Party
Frock For the Small Girl.

OF LINGERIE AND LACE.

When the dancing class gives a cotillion the frock illustrated is just the thing for the small girl to wear. It's not too dressy, but is becoming and childish, and, what is more important to mothers, it will be equally serviceable as a best costume all next summer.

The model is long waisted, and the embroidered plaited ruffle is joined to the lace and lawn inserted bodice in a pretty pointed effect. There is no sash, but the rose pink choux on the shoulder matches the bow worn in the hair.

Homemade Turban.

The new box turbans are quite within the reach of the woman who does her own millinery work. The frame is so easily covered that the task requires only taste in selecting the trimmings. The turban frame may be covered with satin, lace or velvet and needs but little trimming. An aigret or some big roses made of the same material as the covering will do.

A Cleaning Precaution.

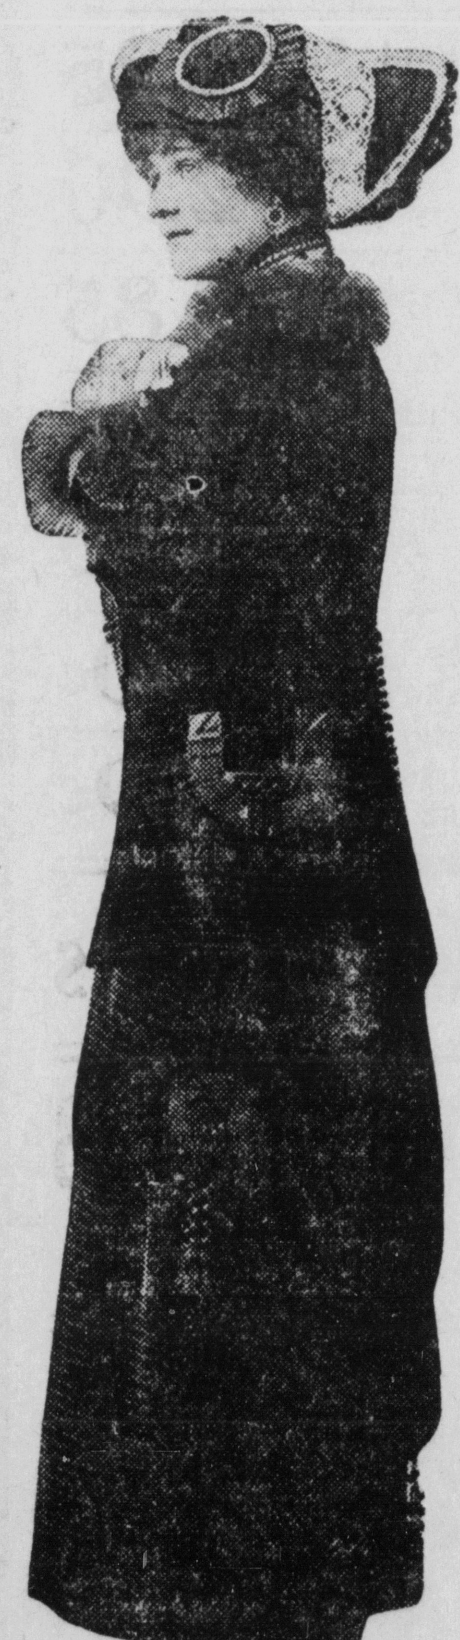

If you do not want to make rings on material cleaned with gasoline, naphtha or other cleansing fluids put blotting paper underneath or hold the fabric rather tightly over a thick Turkish towel or folded pads of cheesecloth or other soft material. If this is neglected the dirty fluid that soaks into the material fails to be absorbed and spreads badly.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK SHOW BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD.

More Than 12,000 Animals Shown to 250,000 Visitors.

The 1910 international live stock exposition, held at Chicago, broke the world's records for the number of animals shown. There were 4,355 entries housed under the exposition roofs, consisting of 1,191 finely bred horses, 1,194 bred cattle, 1,163 sheep and 807 hogs.

Twenty different buildings were required to house these exhibits and in addition there were more than 8,000 fat cattle, sheep and swine exhibited in carload lots in the stockyard pens. It is estimated that 250,000 persons attended the show.

More than ordinary prominence was given the agricultural college exhibits, and students' judging competitions began almost with the opening of the show. The intercollegiate phase of judging, which at the shows held several years ago was looked upon by the practical farmer and stock breeder as a "newfangled experiment," is now generally approved.

The majority of the breeders whose animals carried off the ribbons have their sons at agricultural colleges or are patrons of those institutions.

GIRL A GOOD CAMPAIGNER.

Auto, Big Hat and Cigars Aid In Missouri Victory.

In Jasper county, Mo., Miss Della Sharp was chosen clerk of the circuit court of the Twenty-fifth judicial district. Her success was largely due to her ability as a campaigner and her record in the office, where she served twelve years as a deputy.

Miss Sharp toured the county by automobile, and every morning she was to be seen emerging from her boarding house, clad in a black skirt, a dainty white shirt waist and as big a hat as was likely to keep within the bounds of approval. She distributed cards on which was printed, "Della Sharp needs your vote on Nov. 8 for circuit clerk." She carried with her a box of cigars. She talked to every man in the mining districts, in many cases going down shafts for a hearing.

She presented lead pencils to Democrats, with the injunction: "I brought this for you to scratch your own ticket on Nov. 8. I am sure that you would rather have an old maid in the office than an old bachelor."

Almost every fencepost, telegraph pole and bridge in the county bore placards, "Vote For the Girl," under which many wrote, "You bet I will."

MACHINE SELLS STAMPS.

Clergyman's Invention Knows Enough to Refuse Bogus Coins.

Some months ago a Trinidad clergyman designed a postage stamp machine, which has recently been improved in London and installed in a postoffice in that clays.

By automatic action when a proper coin is placed in the slot and the handle pulled it separates a penny stamp from a roll inside the machine and securely fixes it upon the envelope held in an aperture of the machine. The machine is about the size of an ordinary typewriter and stamps envelopes, newspapers or circulars at the rate of 4,000 an hour with seemingly absolute accuracy. The machine will hold 50,000 stamps, and as used each stamp is automatically registered.

The coin to be received by this piece of mechanism must be genuine, of perfect size and shape. It is claimed that it will return the silver piece inserted in the slot by error, but keeps without any recompense the fraudulent metal disk. It is reported that the machine is to be placed in every underground railway station and at all pillar boxes.

ARTIFICIAL CAMPHOR MADE.

Turpentine Oils Furnish Components of New Imitation.

There is in operation in New York state an artificial camphor factory, the product of which is intended to compete in the market with the natural substance. It is maintained that it does not differ except in the manner of its origin from that extracted from the camphor trees of Formosa.

Artificial camphor is made from essential oils derived from turpentine. Chemically the only difference between turpentine and camphor is the possession by each molecule of the latter of one atom of oxygen which is lacking in the former. By chemical process the needed oxygen is supplied. Three-fourths of the entire supply of camphor is used in the arts and one-fourth in medicine.

GOTHAM'S HUGE TERMINAL OPEN

Pennsylvania's Trains Go Under River to New York.

SIX YEARS' WORK REQUIRED.

Depot Is Largest Building Ever Constructed and With Train Yards Covers Twenty-three Acres—Electric Motors Three Times as Expensive as Steam Locomotives Are Used.

One minute after midnight on Nov. 27 the Pennsylvania railroad opened its mammoth terminal on Manhattan Island to all trains. Those of the Long Island system had used it, but never the through trains to the west and south.

Work on the Pennsylvania station was started May 1, 1904, so that practically six years and seven months were consumed in making the excavations for the foundation of the building and in constructing it. To clear the eight acres of ground occupied by the station meant the razing of some 500 buildings, among which were a number of churches.

The area of the station and yard is twenty-eight acres, and in this there are sixteen miles of track. The storage tracks alone will hold 386 cars. The length of the twenty-one standing tracks at the station is 21,500 feet. There are eleven passenger platforms, with twenty-five baggage and express elevators. The highest point of the tracks in the station is nine feet below sea level.

Dimensions of Terminal.

The station building is 784 feet long and 430 feet wide. The average height above the street is 60 feet, while the maximum is 153 feet. To light the building it takes about 500 electric arcs and 20,000 incandescents.

More than 150,000 cubic yards of concrete were required for the retaining walls, foundations, street bridging and the substructure. There are 650 columns supporting the station building, and the greatest weight on any of these is 1,658 tons.

The stonework of the station was completed on July 31, 1909. To inclose this vast area necessitated the building of exterior walls aggregating 2,458 feet, nearly half a mile, in length and has required 400,000 cubic feet of pink granite.

In addition to the granite the construction of this building has called for the use of 27,000 tons of steel. There have also been set in place some 15,000,000 bricks, weighing a total of 48,000 tons. The first stone of the masonry work on the building was laid June 15, 1908. The entire masonry was thus completed in approximately thirteen months after the work was begun.

Description of Tunnels.

The river tunnels leading to the station are, all told, 6.8 miles long, and the land tunnels have the same length. From the Bergen hill portal in New Jersey to the Long Island entrance of the tunnels is 5.3 miles. It is 8.6 miles from Harrison, N. J., to the station in New York, while from the latter point to Jamaica the distance is 11.85 miles.

The maximum capacity in trains per hour of all of the Pennsylvania tunnels is 144. The initial daily service will consist of 289 Pennsylvania and Long Island trains.

Protective devices abound in the yards and tunnels.

Every so often through the long length of the tube signal lights are seen. If an engineer attempts to run by one of these signals when it is set his train is stopped automatically by the shutting off of his current. At each signal is a telephone, to which the conductor has the key, that connects with the main signal station. Only when the signal station has released the train may it proceed upon its way.

Forty powerful motors operate the trains over the electrified system. Each one is twice as strong as a steam locomotive and cost over three times as much. They were built at the Altona shops of the railroad and equipped with Westinghouse motors for the sum of $50,000 apiece.

INDIAN TREATY AS EVIDENCE.

Government Uses Ancient Document in Riparian Lawsuit.

A treaty with the Indians of Chicago and vicinity, made in 1795 by General "Mad Anthony" Wayne, was introduced in evidence before Special United States Commissioner Neil Satterlee in the taking of testimony in the government's suit to enjoin the construction of a dam at Dresden Heights, Ill. The treaty was explained by Professor Alvord of the University of Illinois.

"It gave the government the right to use the Chicago, Desplaines and the portage to the Illinois river," he said. The government is seeking to prove that back in the fur trading days the Desplaines river was used as a navigable stream.

Christmas Suggestions
That Come in Handy.

GIFT FOR THE GIRL WHO TRAVELS.

A pillow top is one of the few embroidered articles of which there cannot be too many in the Christmas box. What woman has ever been at a loss to dispose of an extra couch pillow? For if a pillow is really enjoyed it gets hard wear and needs frequent replenishing.

Flower designs are especially attractive, though conventional scrolls hold high favor.

As for the material to be worked, pongee, china silk, satin, velvet or velveteen, especially the latter treated with gold thread, would be extremely good looking, though there is nothing for ordinary use quite so acceptable as the art linens and crashes. These may be secured in many charming shades.

In view of the popularity of stenciling, the work will be most effective if done in flat embroidery heavily outlined. The well known Kensington stitch is the one to use. Supposing the design to be one of roses or carnations, one shade of pink and one shade of green will effect a good result, and then the whole should be outlined in a darker shade of each color, or a very striking method would be to gold thread the entire design. Treating it in this manner, the effect is a compromise between a stenciled design and one for embroidery. The sewing case illustrated, although a sentimental looking heart shaped affair, will be found a great help in time of need, as it contains in its four hinged sections papers of needles in different sizes, a small pair of scissors, two bodkins and a buttonholed white flannel needle holder. The material used is a dainty French cretonne on the outside and satin for the inside. The heart shaped sections are cut from cardboard. Ribbon makes the casings for the sewing articles and the smart bow and hangers.

Parisian approval. Judging from the finished effect, all one has to do is to curl the hair, then take the hands and ruffle it up in a becoming fluffiness.

Opinions Divided on Hobble Skirt.

There is much dispute over the hobble skirt. Society women are divided as to whether it is graceful and commodious and whether it will be retained in style. Lady Duff Gordon insists it soon will be abolished, because it is hideous and makes woman the slave of a fad. "While the hobble skirt is not becoming to French, German and American women on account of their broad hips," she says, "it adds grace and charm to the slimmer figures of the Englishwomen. Short persons especially have welcomed the skirt, because it has the appearance of increasing their height. Women are naturally eager to look as becoming as possible, and any fashion which helps toward this may become popular among many of them. As an instance I may mention hair pads. Women who formerly were compelled to wear their hair flat now find their looks greatly improved by the stylish coiffures which hair pads make possible. Hair pads thus remain, like the veil, a permanent feature of dress among many women."

Republican Want Ads Pay.

Fifty Years Ago Today. Dec. 2.

Washington was crowded with politicians and nonpolitical citizens and filled with rumors. Speakers addressed street audiences from hotel balconies. "No Sunday in Revolutionary Times" was the heading used by the New York Herald to depict the national unrest which marked this Sabbath day.

Nov. 1910,

Dear Friend:

I don't see how they make macaroni. I don't see how they get the hole in it. The doctor says this is a good thing because it won't lump in your stomach.

And my, how good macaroni is with a little cheese sprinkled over it, and they are cheap to.

10cts. a pound for macaroni, and 25cts. a pound for nice fresh cheese.

Your Friend,
